Faculty of Science and Technology ICFAI Technical School Department of Mechanical Engineering

As Student Satisfaction Surveys serve as crucial tools for educational institutions to gather feedback from students about their experiences, perceptions and overall satisfaction with the academic environment, the Department conducts a Student Satisfaction Survey regarding teaching – learning and evaluation. The necessity of conducting this survey is multi-faceted and includes the following key reasons:

- 1. Quality improvement: Student Satisfaction Surveys provide valuable insights into the strengths and weaknesses of academic programs, teaching methodologies and support services. The Department uses this feedback to identify areas that need improvement and implement changes to enhance overall educational quality.
- 2. Student-centric approach: By seeking input directly from students, the Department demonstrates a commitment to being student-centric. Understanding students' needs and concerns helps in tailoring educational offerings and services to meet their expectations, fostering a positive learning environment.
- 3. Retention and engagement: Satisfied students are more likely to be engaged in their studies and have a higher likelihood of completing their programs. Monitoring satisfaction levels helps the Department to identify factors that contribute to student engagement and success, ultimately improving retention rates.
- 4. Resource allocation: Feedback from surveys aids in effective resource allocation. By identifying areas where resources are most needed, the Department allocates personnel and other resources more efficiently to address specific concerns.

Please focus on the all round development of the students

Some industrial visits, field visits, practical works, live construction or survey works should be shown for more clarification of theoretical knowledge

As for my suggestion to improve the overall teaching is
Firstly I wish it will be better if the department provide us projector in class. And taught us from projector. Specially for steel and concrete we need a better visualise diagram instead of drawing on black board.since it's a prestigious university in tripura.
Secondly take us for field visit study.

It would be much better if the teachers could explain using projector for some concepts which is hard to visualize

First thing we don't have any digital teaching facilities, no 3d animations, teaching staffs are unable to explain sometimes, and 1 subject is teaching by 2 faculties the problem is that 2 chapters are getting consequently so it's difficult to understand. The teaching techniques could be improved.

Report on Student Satisfactory Survey
By
Faculty of Education
For the Academic Year 2023-24

Registrar,
ICFAI University Tripura
Kamalghat, Tripura (West).

Students' satisfaction surveys in universities play a pivotal role in shaping the educational experience. They provide critical feedback on course quality and teaching effectiveness, allowing educators and administrators to understand students' perceptions and experiences. This feedback is essential for assessing the relevance and impact of course content, teaching methods, and overall academic environment. Moreover, these surveys are instrumental in guiding curriculum development and improvements. They offer insights that help in the introduction of new courses, modification of existing ones, or even the discontinuation of courses that are less effective. Additionally, student responses about campus facilities, resources, and services are invaluable for informed decision-making in resource allocation and facility enhancements.

The role of these surveys extends to accreditation and quality assurance, aspects that are of paramount importance to the Faculty of Education at ICFAI University Tripura. Accrediting bodies often seek evidence of student satisfaction and engagement as part of their assessment criteria. Thus, the surveys not only supply the necessary data to showcase adherence to quality standards but also play a crucial role in faculty evaluation and professional development. Feedback regarding teaching effectiveness is particularly valuable, enabling instructors to pinpoint areas for improvement. This focus on continual enhancement feeds directly into student retention and success rates, as a supportive and effective learning environment encourages students to complete their educational pursuits successfully.

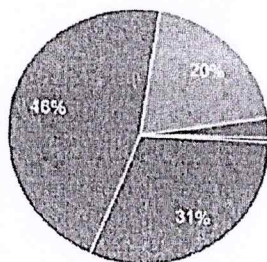

Moreover, the impact of student satisfaction surveys transcends the boundaries of ICFAI University Tripura's Faculty of Education. These surveys significantly influence the university's market positioning and reputation. High levels of student satisfaction enhance the attractiveness of the university to prospective students and faculty members. The insights provided by these surveys are integral to policy and strategic planning, ensuring that decisions are made with a clear understanding of student needs and preferences. This approach not only fosters student engagement by giving them a voice in the operation of their university but also allows ICFAI University Tripura to benchmark its performance against other institutions. Such comparative analyses are essential for understanding the competitive position of the university in the broader education sector. In summary, at ICFAI University Tripura, especially within the Faculty of Education, student satisfaction surveys are a key tool for continuous improvement, ensuring that the university not only meets but also anticipates and surpasses the evolving needs and expectations of its students.

Enhancement of Experiential Learning Opportunities: There is a need for the department to proactively engage in augmenting opportunities for internships, student exchange programs, and field visits. Such initiatives are crucial for practical learning and broader exposure for students.

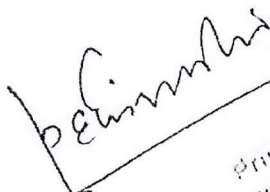

Holistic Teaching and Mentoring Approach: It is recommended that the teaching and mentoring processes be structured to foster students' cognitive, social, and emotional development. A holistic approach in this regard is essential for the all-round development of students.

Dissatisfaction Among a Minority of Students: Approximately 10% of the student population expressed dissatisfaction with the institute, particularly concerning the availability of diverse learning and growth opportunities. This highlights areas where the institute could enhance its offerings to meet student expectations better.

Effective Mentorship by Teachers: The survey reveals that teachers are effectively mentoring their students by identifying their strengths and weaknesses, encouraging participation in extracurricular activities, and adopting student-centric teaching methods. This continuous guidance is pivotal for student development and academic success.

Action taken plan

1. Decided to enroll in online courses to address any challenges related to scheduling and holidays. This will allow us to conduct additional remedial classes and ensure that the syllabus is satisfactorily covered for all students.
2. A small number of students have expressed dissatisfaction with the Internal Evaluation process. To address this, the Principal will personally identify these students, discuss their concerns individually, and work towards resolving their issues.
3. Planned to introduce a variety of experiential learning opportunities and diverse educational activities for our student teachers to enhance their learning experience. These include Smart board training, Digital lab, Language lab experience, Diverse way to Learning foreign language, Project based learning, Field visits, Involve in village tuitions etc.
